Invites You To A Special Reading Event:

Kids Can Change the World
Featuring Cynthia and Meira Levinson

Join us as mother and daughter Cynthia and Meira Levinson share their new books on how civic involvement among kids and teens can change the world.

In We've Got A Job, children's author Cynthia Levinson tells the story of the Children's March in Birmingham, Alabama, when kids and teens flooded the streets and the jails of the city to fight segregation.

In No Citizen Left Behind, Harvard University Associate Professor Meira Levinson draws on her experience teaching in the Atlanta and Boston Public Schools to show how schools can shrink the civic empowerment gap and strengthen American democracy.

The event is free and open to the public. It will take place at Brookline Booksmith 279 Harvard Street, Brookline MA (near the Coolidge Corner stop on the Green Line).
